Ironclad does not independently determine legal positions, fallback language, or risk allocations, and any drafting support is performed strictly in accordance with Customer direction. Customer remains solely responsible for all legal content and decisions reflected in any Jurist Playbook.

2. Jurist Services Timeline

The SOW Term shall commence on the Start Date of One-Time Services specified on the Order Form (the “Services Start Date”), and shall conclude on the earlier of (i) the date that is eight (8) weeks from the Services Start Date or (ii) the date of completion of the Jurist Services (such earlier date the “SOW Expiration Date”), collectively, (the “Services Timeline”).

The anticipated duration of the Jurist Services is an estimate based on the information that Customer has provided to Ironclad as of the SOW Effective Date. The Collaborative Configuration approach shall entail Customer’s Jurist Admin creating all aspects of the prompt, sharing their screen, as necessary, with Ironclad answering questions and providing best practice guidance. The intent of this model is to train Customer’s Jurist Admin on Ironclad’s Jurist functionality and to recommend best practices for future Customer prompts. Ironclad will not be responsible for the performance, accuracy, or effectiveness of any prompts created or configured by Customer.

c. Jurist Playbook Services.

- i. Jurist Playbook Conversion (if applicable). Customer will provide Ironclad with Customer’s in-scope negotiating playbook to be converted into a Jurist-ready format. Ironclad will generate the initial draft of Customer’s Jurist-ready redlining playbook (the “Jurist Playbook”) aligning Customer’s playbook to the preferred structure and format. Ironclad will review the Jurist Playbook identifying any content or structural differences between Customer’s negotiating playbook and the Jurist Playbook and update the Jurist Playbook accordingly. Customer will confirm in writing that the Jurist Playbook is ready for testing. For clarity, all iterations, updates, and feedback incorporation are limited to those reasonably achievable within the Jurist Prompt Consulting Services hours. Ironclad will have no obligation to provide additional iterations beyond such hours without a Change Order. Ironclad does not warrant that any converted playbook will reflect Customer's preferred legal positions or achieve Customer's desired negotiation outcomes.

- ii. Jurist Playbook Development (if applicable). Customer will provide Ironclad with the in-scope agreement template. Ironclad will review the in-scope agreement and meet with Customer's legal team to understand the agreement use case, review the agreement terms as well as assist in capturing preferred terms and associated fallback clauses based on Customer's directions. Ironclad will draft the initial version of Customer's Jurist-ready redlining playbook (the "Jurist Playbook") aligned to Customer's preferred terms and associated fallback clauses. Ironclad will provide the Jurist Playbook to Customer and Customer will review the Jurist Playbook for legal validation while identifying any content or structural feedback. Ironclad will iterate on the Jurist Playbook with Customer to address feedback. Customer will confirm in writing when the Jurist Playbook is ready for testing. For clarity, any additional playbooks, material structural changes, or additional iterations beyond those reasonably contemplated by the Jurist Services will require a Change Order. Ironclad does not represent or warrant that any developed playbook(s) will reflect Customer's preferred legal positions or achieve Customer's desired contract outcomes, negotiation efficiency, or risk mitigation.
- iii. Jurist Playbook Testing. Customer and Ironclad will work collaboratively to test the Jurist Playbook using example contract(s) provided by Customer. Customer will apply the Jurist Playbook to Customer's example contract using Jurist. Customer will review the Jurist output and identify any areas where the prompts in the Jurist Playbook are applied incorrectly and document them in a feedback sheet to be provided by Ironclad (the "Jurist Feedback Sheet"). Ironclad does not guarantee that the Jurist Playbook will produce any specific outcome or result when applied to Customer contracts.
- iv. Jurist Playbook Feedback Session(s). During Playbook Testing, Ironclad will join feedback sessions with Customer to review the Jurist Feedback Sheet provided by Customer and provide guidance and best practices on approaches for addressing the feedback. Ironclad will update the Jurist Playbook(s) based on actionable Customer feedback and the Customer will test the updated Jurist Playbook and confirm all actionable feedback has been addressed.
- v. Jurist Services Close Out. Ironclad will host a closing meeting with Customer to address any open-items, questions or issues, as it relates to the Jurist Services provided. Any unused Jurist Prompt Consulting hours as of the SOW Expiration Date will expire and are non-refundable, non-creditable, and may not be applied or rolled over to any other Customer engagement. Subject to Section 4 (Acceptance of Deliverables) below, the Jurist Playbook Services shall be deemed accepted by Customer upon Customer's acceptance of the Jurist Playbook(s).

4. Acceptance of Deliverables

Ironclad will submit the Jurist Playbook(s) and associated tangible deliverable(s), if any (together, the "Deliverables"), to Customer in accordance with the milestones set forth in Section 3 of this SOW. Upon such submission, Customer will promptly review, evaluate and/or test, as the case may be, the applicable Deliverable(s) within five (5) business days (the "Evaluation Period"). If Customer reasonably determines that a Deliverable materially fails to conform to the express requirements of this SOW, Customer will provide written notice detailing such material non-conformity (a “Rejection Notice”) within the Evaluation Period. Ironclad will use commercially reasonable efforts to address such material non-conformity. To the extent such correction is not practicable, provide Customer with the detailed reasons as to why such correction is not practicable, and propose at least one (1) alternative using the Enterprise Services standard platform-level functionality that Ironclad makes available to all customers. Deliverables will be deemed accepted upon the earlier of (i) Customer’s written acceptance or (ii) expiration of the Evaluation Period without written notice of material non-conformity.
